

A way to stay

[C]She spends thirty [D]dollars
At the makeup counter boutique
[Em]She tries to hide her [B]ugly
With shades of blue and pink

I think she once spent ninety
On a care bear tattoo
If she could only find me
She say goodbye to you

Verse 2

She wears some old clothing
She bought at garage sales
It makes up for her knowing
And once again, she fails

To be what you expected
Or even comprehend
The battles that defeat you
You called yourself her friend

Verse 3

She spends $300 on a ticket to nowhere
She tells the travel agent she doesn't really care
You tell her that she's crazy and this you can't forgive
She prepares to take off
She prepares to LIVE

Bridge

She remembers things now
The sadness that it brings now
In her mind it rings now
But all she knows is you

Verse 4

She calls me from the payphone
At her hotel resort
She has to buy a ticket
A ride to the airport

She says she wants to see you.
She misses you again.
These battles that defeat her
You called yourself her friend

Chorus

She'll make up for this once more
She will find the words you were searching for
And you will pay for this one day
When She remembers and decides
To find a way to stay
(To go away to stay)
